Fishing Was Fine at Rodeo

More than 1000 and closer to 1500 fish were caught by youngsters in the Jaycee Fish Rodeo on the Ben Leppold ranch Saturday afternoon. First prize for the most fish caught went to Randy Callison, who brought in 155 perch and catfish.

The biggest perch was caught by Charles Parks Jr., and he was awarded a rod given by Woody Pond and a reel given by Truitt-Townsend. Young Callison was awarded a gas-model airplane donated by The Pharmacy.

The biggest catfish was caught by Charles Evers, and he was given a rod and reel donated by Thompson's of Canyon.

A tackle box donated by Western Auto was won by Richard Fulton, who caught 99 fish. Third most fish was 92, caught by young Parks, and he was given a $5 cash award donated by H. R.'s Greenhouse.

A ball and glove donated by M. E. Moses Company was awarded to Evers for the fourth highest number of fish, 73. A braided monofilament line donated by Canyon Sports and Marine went to Layne Cosby for catching 69 fish, the fifth highest number.

When counting time came at the end of the rodeo, the judges counted 1127 fish. A number of youngsters had fished earlier in the day, but left without counting their fish.

The Jaycees plan to make the fish rodeo an annual event.

DELUGE DROPS 1.91 INCHES

A crop-breaking downpour of rain and hail blown by high wind deluged Canyon and parts of Randall County Tuesday night, with 1.91 inches of moisture measured in the standard rain gauge at West Texas State.

A gauge in the west end of town showed 1.61 of an inch and one in about the center showed 1.13.

Friday's shower was .18 of an inch and Saturday's was .13.

The month's total now stands at 4.26 inches.

VFW To Hold Rites For Memorial Day

Memorial Day services will be held at 7:30 a. m. in the VFW Hall Friday. The veterans organization has invited the public to the services.

In addition to the memorial services, the VFW will observe the day by donating a flag pole to Dreamland Cemetery.

County Keeps Same Tax Rate

A tax rate of $1.50 per $100 valuation was set by the Randall County commissioners court Monday afternoon. The rate is the same as last year's.

Two changes in the internal structure of the rate were made following lengthy discussion by the court. A nickel was added to the sinking fund levy, raising it from 25 cents to 30 cents, and a nickel was deducted from the road and bridge fund levy—having the effect of keeping the total rate unchanged.

By funds, the tax levy for 1958 will be three cents for the jury fund, 27 cents for the courthouse and jail fund, 50 cents for the general fund, 10 cents for the road and bridge fund and 30 cents for the sinking fund. There is an additional 30-cent special road and bridge fund that applies to all personal property and all real property above the homestead exemption.

County Auditor E. T. Cummings estimated that the county tax roll would be about $27 million, although he admitted the estimate is conservative. He said the roll has been growing at the rate of about $2 million per year, and last year's roll was $26.5 million.

Plan Enforcement Of Parking Code

Enforcement of the Texas Uniform Code regulation against parking on the wrong side of the street will begin in Canyon, Chief of Police Bill Pickering has announced.

The police department will also begin ticketing cars which are parked too close to intersections. The code calls for parking not less than 20 feet from intersections so that the view of traffic will not be impeded.

Those who park on the wrong side of the street are violating the law three times, Pickering said. The first violation is driving on the wrong side of the street when crossing to the wrong side. The second violation is parking in the wrong direction, and the third is crossing on the wrong side of the street when starting up again.

Cutup Helicopter

Rigged with a face and high top hat, a two-man helicopter from Fort Sill, Okla., demonstrated maneuverability for the ROTC at West Texas State. The helicopter gently nudged a barrel over, then picked it up again, and the pilot showed other tricks.

School Plans Summertime Driving Training Course for Students

To relieve the load of students who want to take a driver training course during the regular school term, a summertime course has been announced by Canyon High School.

During the regular school term, only a limited number of students can take the course and complete it due to the number of hours of driving and observation required.

The course will begin June 16 and will take nine to 10 weeks to complete. Ray C. Wells will be the instructor and the cost of the course will be $20 per student. It is anticipated that between 25 and 30 students will be needed before the course will be scheduled.

Requirements for passing the course include 30 hours of classroom work, six hours of driving observation and six hours of actual driving.

Those who pass the course are eligible to obtain drivers licenses if they are under the age of 16. Insurance premiums to certain automobiles operated by persons under 25 carry a 10 per cent credit if the young operators have passed the driver training course.

Principal J. E. Miller has urged that students who plan to take the course next fall consider taking it this summer if possible. Instruction will continue until those enrolled have had sufficient time to qualify for driving certificates.

Those who plan to take the course should obtain information from the principal's office.

Umbarger Rally Is Thursday Night

The political rally and box supper sponsored by the Umbarger P-TA will be held May 29 instead of May 27, as announced in the Canyon News last week.

Any candidate for office is invited to attend the rally. The rally and supper will be held in the Umbarger school.

Water Line May Be Done Soon

Water should be coming into Canyon from the new waterfield in about two weeks, Consulting Engineer James McMorries said Tuesday.

He said the entire system will not be completed by that time, but it will be far enough along that the water can be brought to town and used. He expects that the pumps will be turned on this weekend, and the line partially filled.

Foran Construction Company will move the steel water tank from the Santa Fe right of way to the Forrester land next Tuesday, and it will be installed. Still to be installed are air valves in the line and other minor work.

When the line is opened up, it will be flushed with water to clean the dirt out. It will be chlorinated at the same time, McMorries said. The workmen installed one pound of chlorinated lime at each 10th joint when the line was laid.

McMorries expects it will take about twice the volume of water that the line will hold in order to flush it. The line will hold nearly two million gallons. The flushing water will be turned out of the line just before it hits the storage tank, and will be diverted through a ditch.

Register Tuesday For Summer Term

Registration Tuesday will open West Texas State College's first summer term, which continues through July 11. Second term will start July 15.

Among special offerings during the summer sessions are educational weekend tours to Central City, Colo., a geography field tour of the Western states and Canada, the sixth annual West Texas Music Camp for West Texas high school musicians, summer theatre for the Palo Duro Players, and the annual Reading Conference, sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading.

Weekend tours for music festivals and operas and drama are slated July 18 and Aug. 9, when chartered buses go to Denver and Central City, Colo.

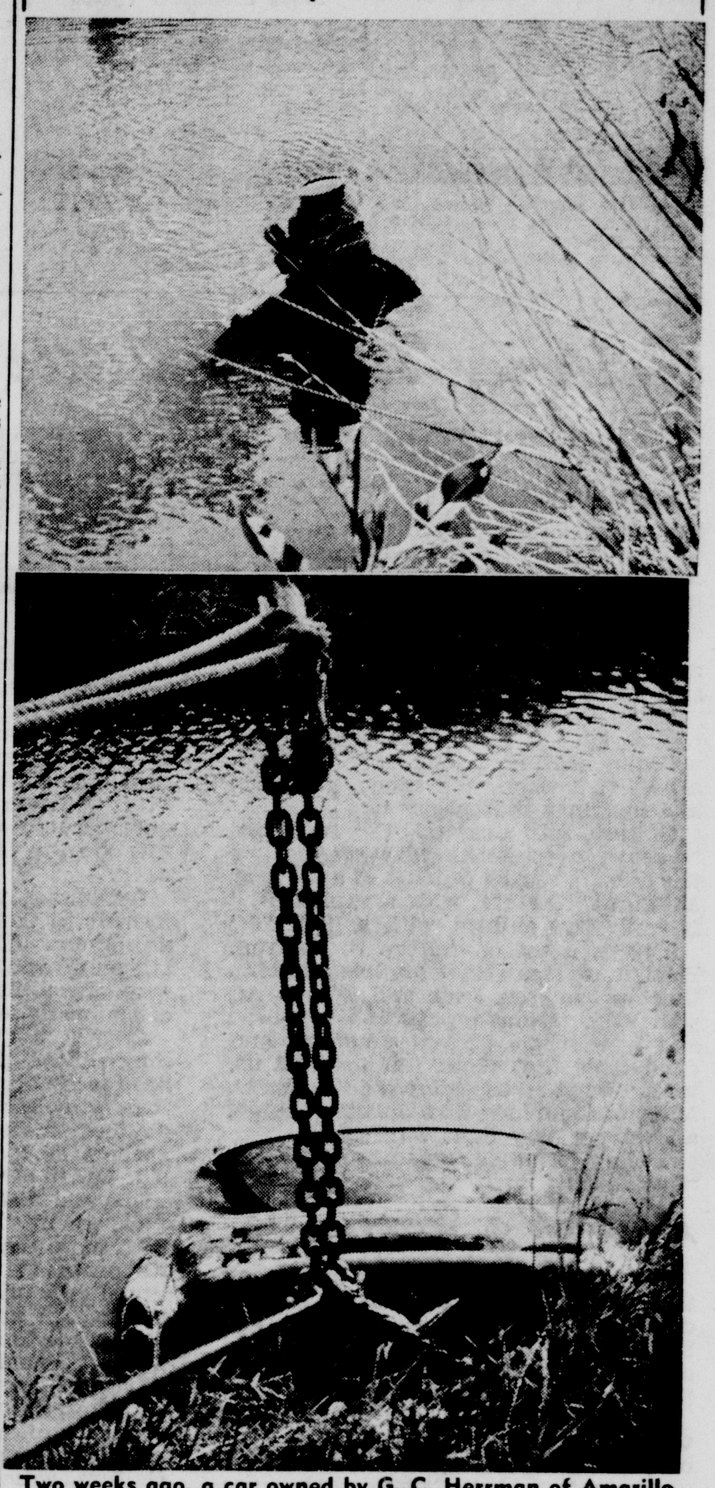
The music camp usually attracks about 300 area high school musicians to the campus for two weeks of concentrated study in preparation for the fall semester. The camp is slated Aug. 3-15.

Dr. Murry B. Measamer, head of the geography department, will conduct a field course in geography, which will take students on a three-weeks tour of the Western states. The course offers six semester hours credit.

The tenth anniversary of summer theatre at West Texas State will be celebrated with a number of currently-popular plays, directed by William A. Moore, founder of summer theatre work at WT. First production will be given early in June.

One of five conferences on reading held annually in the state, the West Texas State conference will be held July 29-31. Among consultants and speakers are Dr. Dora V. Smith, University of Minnesota, Dr. Matilda Bailey, Slippery Rock State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa., and Dr. Roy A. Kress Jr., Shady Brook Schools, Inc., of Richardson, Texas.

Mishap Correction



Two weeks ago, a car owned by G. C. Herrman of Amarillo plunged into Palo Duro Creek while Herrman was fishing on the Mack Forrester ranch northwest of Canyon. Last Wednesday a skin diver from Amarillo, and a crane and bulldozer of the Foran Construction Company teamed up to retrieve the water-soaked car. The construction machinery is at the ranch working on Canyon's new water line. In the upper picture the skin diver stands on the trunk of the car, showing how deep it is. He said the rear wheels were about nine feet down, and the front wheels were 15 to 20 feet down. The diver hooked chains on the car and the crane pulled it out of the water. The bulldozer pulled the crane and car and after a half-hours work it was high and drying out. Found inside were a small perch and a frog.

Full-Scale Hearing Clinic Planned At WT; Will Be One of Three in State

A hearing clinic and center, to serve the entire West Texas region, will be established this summer and will open during the fall semester at West Texas State College, President James P. Cornette has announced.

The West Texas State center will be one of only three in the state, Dr. Cornette said. Now, persons needing testing assistance in hearing may come to Canyon, instead of making a longer trip to Dallas or Houston.

Authority to set up the center in cooperation with the Texas State Department of Health was granted the WT speech department by the board of regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges, Dr. Cornette said.

By an agreement with the health department, the speech department will receive, "on a permanent loan basis," a large Allison 21 speech audiometer and several other pieces of equipment valued at appieces of equipment valued at approximately $5,000.

The equipment will make possible the most exacting and efficient methods of testing hearing known.

Dr. Crannell Tolliver, head of the speech department, said that he expects to receive the equipment early this summer. It will be installed temporarily in the Educatoin Building, and the center will operate on a limited basis until permanent quarters are ready in WT's new fine arts building.

"This center will cooperate with local health department offices and with physicians of this area who may refer their patients to us for testing," Dr. Tolliver said. "We will conduct tests recommended and submit reports to the physicians."

WT's speech department has been directing a small program in hearing and speech for several years, but because of lack of room and lack of specialized equipment, the WT clinic has remained limited.

"We have been able to render some service to the area, and our clinic has been of importance in training teachers who might be involved with some therapy work," Dr. Tolliver said.

With the new center, however, service to the West Texas area will be expanded greatly, and the program will provide an enlarged and improved training experience for students who plan to become speech and hearing therapists.

Dr. Tolliver said that a critical shortage of therapists has existed for a number of years, and that a larger number of teachers with specialized training in the hearing and speech areas may now be supplied by West Texas State.

Dr. Wendell Cain, associate professor of speech, has been director of the speech and hearing clinic, and will continue as director of the new center.

The program is expected to grow until within a few years, a full-time audiologist will be hired, Dr. Tolliver said.

Special clinic rooms were planned for the fine arts building, which is expected to be completed by Aug. 1, 1959. These rooms will be used for the new center, according to Dr. Tolliver.

A specially designed hearing room, sound-proof and vibration-proof, will be used for the testing program. A "room within a room," its floor will be set on a felt pad, and its walls and ceiling will be attached to the rest of the building by resilient clips. The hearing room will be surrounded by other clinic rooms where less intricate testing will be done.

"Children and adults, referred to the center by physicians, will be given tests of different types to determine the nature and extent of hearing impairment and hearing problems," Dr. Tolliver said. "Recommendations for remedial treatment will be sent to the patient's doctor or to the health department officers."

A scale of fees for the tests will be set by the State Department of Health, and a scale will also be established in cooperation with private physicians.

The center will also provide evaluation of hearing aids, so that persons may get the most from these devices, Dr. Tolliver said.

"We will not sell hearing aids, but we will have on hand the aids of nearly all manufacturers so that persons may test them to select one which best suits them. They can then go to a dealer for the model they desire," Dr. Tolliver said.

He said that it will be part of the function of the center to assist persons in improving the use of hearing, and "to make better use of what hearing he has," through use of "the best auditory training equipment available."

City Judge B. F. Machen Retires; Will Be Replaced by D. P. Clark

City Judge B. F. Machen has announced his retirement effective Saturday, and the city commission has appointed D. P. Clark as his replacement. Clark will begin Monday.

Judge Machen is the first recorder of the corporation court, having been appointed at the same time the court was established on April 23, 1954.

Previously, he had been Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace for 18 years, beginning in 1935. Judge Machen has lived in Randall County since Jan. 1, 1916. He farmed 15 years then moved to Canyon.

Included in the judge's experiences is a period of stage coach driving in 1901 and 1902. He drove a stage coach carrying passengers, mail and express from San Angelo to Ozona, an 85-mile daily trip. He drove from San Angelo to Ozona one day and returned the next, changing horses four times.

Judge Machen said that when he quit the job, the company told him that if he stayed, they would let him drive a chain-driven Buick they planned to buy. They told him it was guaranteed to run 20 miles an hour. "I told them any fool would know it would burn it," the judge laughs.

He lived in Oklahoma 15 years before coming to Randall County. Judge Machen plans to visit his daughter and rest after his retirement.

Culture, With a Little 'C'

Most of us snort in derision and shy as from a snake when we are confronted with Culture, especially Culture with a capital "C." Culture, that's something that people wear long dresses and tuxedos to go see. Culture, that's for rich folks or those strange humans who don't get haircuts, wear baggy old clothes and stay up all night.

Most of us have been frightened, usually years ago, by Culture. And we're still afraid.

We can't realize that Culture, with a capital "C," is really just some music we enjoy hearing, a good story well told, a play that tickles our fancy, paintings and drawings that please us.

Culture, with a capital "C," would not be nearly so frightening if it were called television or movies or plays or most near anything. Culture, with a capital "C," is really just culture, with a little "c."

There's a lot of culture in Canyon. By that, we mean there are lots of events that we can see, hear and enjoy. All year long, various groups at the college and high school present programs and exhibitions that never fail to thrill us, when we get up the courage to see them. Many of them have no admission charge, and others have light tariffs.

There's another organization doing the same sort of thing, the Community Concert Association. For six bucks a year, members of the association have a chance to see and hear at least three performances — some years four. If there were more members, there could be more programs.

Those programs aren't frightening—they're fine. Yeah, we know, they're Capital "C" Culture with long hair, raised eyebrows and bored faces. Only, a year ago a couple of girls stood on the stage and sang folk songs to a delighted audience. You know what a folk song is—that's "Home on the Range," "The Red River Valley," or "The Old Chisolm Trail." Those may be long hair, but only because oldtime cowboys couldn't run down to the barbershop every other week.

Sometimes we wonder how the performers in Canyon can stand to put on a program. The college band and choir put on several a year, and the combined audiences seldom would fill the chamber of commerce office.

Capital "C" Culture is probably those songs, plays, paintings and stories that have pleased more people for more years than others have. Sometimes, present-day composers, playwrights, artists and authors do a good job and their work bids fair to please many people for many years, and their work is added to Culture.

Our point is this. Canyon is filled with more than its share of chances for its citizens to be entertained if its citizens would only take the opportunity. From the college and high school come performances that are sometimes amateurish and sometimes professional, but usually good. From the Community Concert Association comes performances that are always professional and always good.

We have only to forget our fear of Culture, wih a Capital "C," and enjoy what we have. Maybe we should think of it as culture, with a little "c," and we could let ourselves go and enjoy it.

A Buck a Year

We notice where no less a personage than Dwight David Eisenhower has endorsed an idea that we had sometime ago. We can't claim that our idea was original, or that the President has stolen it, but we do claim that it is a good idea.

The President and the chairmen of the two major political parties have okayed an idea to get the little people of the nation to contribute little sums to the parties for financing campaigns.

There is to be an advertising campaign to try to get us to donate. The campaign will be built around the slogan: "Want to keep politics clean? Don't pass the buck . . . give a buck to the party of your choice."

That's what our idea was. Only, we think it should be mandatory. If you want to vote in the Democratic Primary, or attend the Democratic Precinct Convention, you should donate to the Democratic Party.

If every person who votes in this summer's primary in Texas would put up a buck, the party would have all the money it needs to conduct party affairs in the state and help with the campaign expenses of any national candidate.

We think it's a shame that our local officeholders have to "buy" their offices. But that's what it amounts to. Everyone who files his candidacy for an office must put up a filing fee. The fee, a healthy one, is used to hold the primary election. The general election, in the fall, is financed by the taxpayers through the county government.

The primary election is simply the election whereby a party picks its candidates for the general election, a party affair. The general election is the election when the actual officeholders are picked out by all of the voters.

We believe that if everyone who participates in party activities were required to donate a buck a year, there would soon be two parties in Texas and our politics would be much healthier. The treasury built up by such donations would lessen the need for large contributions by the wealthy few, and the elected officeholders would owe their allegiance more to the mass of the people rather than the few.

A buck a year wouldn't hurt any individual, and it would help all of us.

What a Whingding

The Jaycees really put on a whingding last Saturday. Never have we seen so many kids so happy.

The fish rodeo was a success in our books. The fish were biting like crazy, caught plenty with little strain.
and even the youngest contestants

Our congratulations to the Jaycees for sponsoring the rodeo, to the Ben Leppolds for letting the Jaycees use their land and creek, and to the many parents who probably had as much fun as their children.

Word to the Wise

On the first day of April, the City of Canyon had a little over $16,000 for general operation. That's all there is, except for the money that will come from the sale of water. If the rains keep up and we have a wet summer, there won't be much money coming in from water sales—maybe just enough to pay the costs of running the water plant.

We can't expect any appreciable amount of money coming from taxes the rest of the year—most have already been paid and delinquent collections are generally slow.

At the same time, we have many instances of people wanting the city to do this and the other. Anything the city does takes money, and it must come from the citizens. Since the treasury is low, anything that is added to the service provided will require more money quickly. Don't demand any increased or new services unless you are prepared to finance them.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Jimmie Gillentine in the Hereford Brand: Frequently, these days, you hear and read a lot about J. Paul Getty, the world's richest private citizen. Mr. Getty in a current issue of True magazine says he almost wishes he could have the fun of starting over again, chiefly because it is so doggoned easy to amass a million dollars.

Few people realize the connection Jean Paul Getty has in Hereford, however, through his fifth and latest wife, Theodora Lynch Getty. This is largely due to the fact that the charming lady, now in the process of divorce courts, has chosen to operate in the area under the name of "Hereford, Texas, Water Company" and Theodora Lynch. Those who attended the formal opening of Hotel Jim Hill will no doubt remember her; she has on other occasions been a frequent visitor in the community in recent years. A lot of men, in fact, are wondering why Mr. Getty chooses to remain on foreign lands for the past seven years—everything considered.

Dave McReynolds in the Friona Star: As a veteran "watcher" of "Queen for a Day" on TV for a number of years, not voluntarily, we must say, we will be forced to agree with one of our citizens who brought forth the idea that "there must not be anybody in good health in the entire State of California."

When asked what she meant by saying all the folks out in the "Sunshine State" must be ill, she replied that every day she watches TV, there on the screen appear hundreds of people all sicker than the other fellow, and pouring out their troubles over the screen.

Y'know, she has a point.

I wonder what the Chamber of Commerce of the state of California would think of this attitude toward the show?

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

The shell game used to be as much a part of the carnival as the freak show.

For the benefit of a generation that may not know the exact procedure, the shell game is played with three walnut shells and a pea. There is also one other ingredient necessary: a sucker.

The operator places the pea under a shell, talks fast, moves the shells around and then invites the onlooker to select the shell that the pea is under, with the onlooker backing his eyesight monetarily. (In other words, he bets a given amount).

The customer, having indicated the shell, is allowed to lift it. To his surprise, the pea is not there. If he had chosen another shell, the result would have been the same. There was no pea under any of the shells. The operator had only appeared to have put it under one. Instead, he concealed it in the palm of his hand or behind his ear.

I did hear about a man who beat the shell game. He was of course a Texan.

After having seen several of his friends taken, he allowed as how he could pick the right shell. The result was a hundred-dollar wager.

"It's under the middle one," the big rancher said.

"Go ahead and see," the operator urged.

"I will," the customer replied, at the same time drawing a .45.

He proceeded to lift the left hand shell, then the right hand shell.

Then he remarked, "Since the pea ain't under either of them, it has to be under the one I picked —the middle one; that is, if you ain't runnin' a dishonest game."

His eyes directed at the six-shooter, the operator said, "Of course, it's under that one" and paid off.

A man was playing a violin on a street corner in New York. Two or three would stop, listen a little while, then move on. For the most part, the throngs hurried by, paying no attention.

What is remarkable about that? You ask. The remarkable thing about it is that the man playing the violin was one of the half dozen greatest violinists in the world. He was just doing it as an experiment.

The incident demonstrates the importance of setting. You must have lights, scenery, costuming, an audience with eager expectancy.

ALL BUT THAT!

The poor sailor caught his buddy tenderly embracing and kissing his girl.

There was a lapse of silence and then he said: "I don't mind your necking my girl friend, but take your hands off my fraternity pin."

Dear Editor:

I wish I could claim the credit for Margaret Johnson's superior piano playing, but I cannot. She has studied with Mrs. Coffee for many years and owes much success to her.

Since Mrs. Coffee's name was accidentally omitted from the account of the honors assembly, please correct the statement.

So few pupils attain the skill which Margaret Lee Johnson has, that a teacher who helps one to that point needs full credit.

At least one segment of Texas economy — highway construction — is booming. One reason: the Texas Highway Department isn't letting grass grow under its feet in getting federal emergency projects under way.

Low bids tabulated at the Department's May letting totaled $19,187,933. State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer, in opening the May letting, said that about $25,000,000 in road projects would be up for bids next month.

This figure, if reached, would set a new record.

A big chunk of this upsurge comes from Texas' $36,000,000 share of the Federal Emergency Fund, authorized by Congress this year to get extra money into the economy fast and provide needed roads. All of this work must be put under contract by December.

Texas Highway officials hope to beat the deadline by several months. Greer announced that $8,000,000 of the May lettings represented the first of the extra federal projects. He noted with quiet pride "the speed with which the projects were made ready." Bids were taken just four weeks after the federal bill was signed. Department officials expect all the $36,000,000 to be under contract by the end of the summer — bringing record or near-record lettings for the next few months.

A short time back monthly highway lettings of $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 were about average. Time was, too, when the emphasis was mainly on the need for fine, new roads to accommodate the growing stream of fine, new cars. Today, there's also emphasis on the number of people who'll be put to work, the money they'll spend on groceries, cars, clothes.

High Tension

With millions involved, the highway lettings are scenes of high tension. Sunburned, sport shirted contractors, plus materials men and insurers flock to the Department's hearing room where the sealed bids are opened and read, item by item.

Department personnel have an electronic computer to add up the item bids and determine the low bidder. Results are announced later in the day. But contractors or their representatives take down the bids on the spot and make rapid calculations.

It isn't hard to spot the man who's just realized he missed a million-dollar job by bidding a few hundred dollars high. Typical muttered comment: "He can't do it for the money!"

Bumpy Road

Though the mammoth highway building program is moving forward, top speed, there are problems along the road.

Chief bone of contention, now in the courts, is whether cost of relocating utilities to make way for new construction should be borne by the cities and utility companies or the state.

A law passed by the last Legislature authorizes the state, with 90 per cent federal aid, to pay for utility re-location on the federal projects.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled that part of the law invalid in "donating public moneys to corporations and individuals . . . for private and individual purposes." Wilson filed a test case in an Austin district court.

City officials, through the Texas League of Municipalities, take the opposite view. They contend that in other states cities get this money for utility moving and that Texans, through federal taxes, contribute to the cost. Besides, they add, it'll cost the cities some $20,000,000.

Hospital Officials

The Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools has a flock of new names topping its roster of officials.

W. W. Heath of Austin was named chairman of the Board. He succeeds Dr. Raleigh Ross, also of Austin. Howard Tellepsen of Houston is the new vice chairman.

Raymond W. Vowell was appointed executive director of the hospital system. This post has been vacant nearly a year.

It was announced, also, that Dr. C. J. Ruilmann, now commissioner of mental health for Tennessee, will become director of Texas mental hospitals in June.

Heath, appointed to the Board by Gov. Price Daniel last fall, is prominent in business circles as an attorney, banker and rancher. He also is a former county judge, secretary of state and assistant attorney general.

Short Snorts

A slight downward trend in joblessness was noted in the Texas report. Number of persons receiv- Employment Commission's latest ing unemployment compensation checks dropped from 90,949 to 90,913.

A former TEC attorney, Lee G. Williams, has filed suit in an Austin district court for reinstatement to the job from which he was fired last month. Williams contends that his position in Texas Merit System corresponds to federal civil service status and he cannot be fired for the reasons given. A majority of the three-man Commission said they had "no confidence" in Williams.

Twenty-two bus companies operating in Texas have asked the Railroad Commission for permission to hike intrastate (within the state only) fares by 10 per cent. They're being squeezed by increased operating costs, say the companies.

Fred Erisman of Longview has been named chairman of the new Texas Council on Administration of Justice. Council's purpose is to work with other groups in curbing crime and delinquency.

Maco Stewart of Galveston, former assistant attorney general, was elected new president of the liberal dominated Young Democrats Club at its Austin meeting. Young Democrats officially criticized recent legislative action designed "to illegally circumvent the U. S. Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

Whatever they think of candidates, some half-million Texas citizens won't be able to do much about it at election time next summer. State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported that paid poll taxes and exemptions dropped from 2,410,188 in 1956 to 2,055,318 this year.

State Department of Health is urging the establishment of more poison information centers over Texas. Four Texas cities — Austin, Galveston, Houston and Fort Worth — now have such centers able to give immediate and sometimes life saving information on what antidote to use for what poison.

Methodists Study Ceta Canyon Plans

Considering a $60,000 campaign to finance improvements at Ceta Canyon Methodist Camp near here, the Northwest Texas Methodist Annual Conference opened its yearly meeting yesterday in the First Methodist Church of Lubbock.

The meeting will continue through Friday.

Improvements at Ceta Canyon would include a paved road and recreational facilities, including a swimming pool. The camp is located about 25 miles southeast of Canyon.

Conference members will also be asked to approve a goal of four Advance Specials in each local church. Advance Specials are benevolent gifts over and above the regular gifts to missions included in church budgets. It will be recommended that the four gifts include world missions, national missions, the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief and conference-wide seminar on working with other denominations.

Officers Installed By JWBC in Tea

Mrs. Bob Lindsey was installed as the president of the Junior Woman's Book Club in a recent installation tea in the home of Mrs. Clarence Eugene Thompson.

Mrs. Bruce Winn, outgoing president, installed the new officers, who, along with Mrs. Lindsey, were Mrs. R. E. Barnard, vice president; Mrs. T. S. Stevenson Jr., secretary; Mrs. Michael Morris, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Craig, parliamentarian; Mrs. Harold Erwin, reporter; Mrs. Bob Bellah, program chairman, and Mrs. J. C. Bellah, corresponding secretary.

A corsage was presented to each of the new officers.

A fortune teller, Mrs. Bill Cherry, gazed into her crystal ball and gave a preview of Canyon of Tomorrow for the evening program. Mrs. David Matthis assisted.

Refreshments of tea, coffee, and cookies were served to approximately 30 members.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Trouble, Trouble, Trouble

It seems that the world has more than its share of troubles. The Russians are bombarding outer space with sputniks, the Algerians are bombarding the French, the French are bombarding the Algerians, and it looks as though the French will soon be bombarding the French.

The Lebanese are bombarding the Syrians with bombs and charging that the Syrians are bombarding the Lebanese with massive interference. Some of the South Americans are bombarding Nixon with eggs, etc.

The President is bombarding the Vice President with the smiles of himself and government employees, and it seems that everybody seems to be bombarding everybody else with propaganda, and to top it all off, the Attorney General of the United States has now started bombarding the Supreme Court with argument that Texas does not own its Tidelands, even though Congress passed a bill saying just the opposite.

As for the new Russian sputnik, let it be said that this was quite an achievement, but it does not mean the end of the world any more than the launching of the first sputnik did. The crowing of Kruschev is nothing new and comes with no great surprise to anyone in this country. The satellite and missile program of this nation continue on schedule.

As to the bombardment proceedings between the French and Algerians, this has been going on for some time, and probably everything from words to bombs have been employed. The matter that is causing the deep concern in the picture is the internal difficulty that seems to be plaguing France.

The bombardment between the Lebanese and Syrians does not represent a parting of the ways of old friends. It will be remembered that there have been strained relations in this section of the world for many years in the past, and from all indications, this strain will continue in the future.

As for the bombardment received by Vice President Nixon in South America, it can be said that this was a deplorable display of stupidity and bad taste on the part of those engaging in these activities. However, the big question in my mind that overshadowed all the others is, "Why did not the Intelligence Service of the United States know enough about the situations in these countries to have avoided subjecting the welfare of the second ranking man in the United States government to such danger?"

Whether you like or dislike Nixon is not the question. The fact is that he is the second ranking man in our government.

The taxpayers of this country pay out thousands upon thousands of dollars each year to provide and maintain an effective intelligence service to keep our government officials advised as to what is going on in other countries with regard to their attitude toward us and as to the possibility of overt acts.

Activities such as those that occurred in South America were not spur of the moment activities, and it should take a lot of explaining on the part of our intelligence forces. It would seem to me that the President should call upon the CIA for a full report and explanation of somebody's failure in this particular instance.

Perhaps we are spending entirely too much time trying to bombard some of these foreign nations with American taxpayers' dollars and not enough time trying to find out what they think of us and what they are going to do to injure or harm us the first time they get the chance .

The return of Nixon to this country brought forth what appeared to be an attempt on the part of this government, acting through the President, to soften the propaganda value of the South American incidents, by having all of the government employees leave their jobs and go to the airport to welcome Nixon. In fact, telephone calls were made to government offices, including my own, on the subject.

The caller would state that the President was urging all to go to the airport to welcome the return of the Vice President. The man hours that were lost would add up to a stupendous sum.

The present Attorney General, who is a Cabinet Officer in Eisenhower's Cabinet, is now trying to upset the Tidelands matter and to take away from Texas that which has always rightfully been hers and which the Congress, in recent years by a law, said was hers.

It will also be remembered that the President of the United States has said that he believed that Texas owned its Tidelands for 10½ miles offshore. Under the circumstances, it comes with some surprise to me that the Attorney General of a President, who made such a statement, would be allowed to proceed in direct conflict with the words of the President and the action of the Congress.

The question seems to be, "Just who is running this country?"

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Calvin Casey is in the process of leveling approximately 20 acres of land in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service. Casey leveled about 20 acres in 1956 and said he was well pleased with it. He has bought a carry-all and will do his own work.

Burney B. Slack had the Soil Conservation Service lay out two diversion terraces on his farm These diversions will carry excess water into the pasture and spread it.

The following farmers have installed or are in the process of installing underground irrigation pipe: R. C. Sampson Sr., R. C. Sampson Jr., Fred Fegel, Dona L. Stone, David Horn, Richard E. Friemel, Watkins Bros., Max Hoffman, Verlon Watson, C. B. Rittenberry, Mack Forrester farm, Rudolph T. Friemel, Si G. Elliott, Wilhelm Baueh, Sam D. Vaughan, Charles M. Davis, Jack R. C. Vincint, Lester F. Bryan and Harold H. Ladehoff.

These pipeline designs are checked by SCS technicians and the line is checked after it is laid to insure the farmer that the pipe was installed according to the design.

Contour lines were run on the C. N. Cosby farm this past week. Cosby will use the lines when he plants his crop.

Canyonite Receives Engineering Degree

Joe Travis Maddux of Canyon received his baccalaureate degree in electrical engineering at the May 24 graduation at Texas A.&M. College.

To the Honorable Charles E. Donnell, Mayor and City Commissioners,
City of Canyon,
Canyon, Texas

Gentlemen:

We have made an examination of the books, records and accounts of the

for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1957, and ending March 31, 1958. Our examination included such tests of the accounting records and such auditing procedures as we deemed necessary in the circumstances. Our examination did not include verifications of the costs nor to the existence of all fixed properties owned by the City of Canyon, nor of the accounts and notes receivable.

During the fiscal year, changes were inaugurated in account classification which precludes accurate comparisons for the fiscal year just ended with that ending March 31, 1957. Otherwise, generally accepted accounting principles have been maintained.

In our opinion, subject to the above exceptions, the accompanying balance sheet, exhibits and related schedules present fairly the financial position of the City of Canyon, Texas, at March 31, 1958, and the results of its operations for the year then ended.

Respectfully submitted

There's plenty to see in Texas, wherever you may roam on a holiday jaunt or on a vacation trip. Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders. Sightseeing is fun in Texas.

By VERN SANFORD

Once in a while someone catches a gasper gou on an artificial lure. Usually such catches are within the range of a pound or two.

But there are exceptions! For instance: A few days ago Billy Disch Jr., of Austin and his wife were fishing for white bass on Lake Buchanan in Central Texas. They had a pretty good string of whites, taken while trolling and jigging.

They were using Dixie Jet lures with two hooks snipped off, just to make the fishing more interesting. Mrs. Disch was using a Mitchell 300 with 6-pound test line. Suddenly she thought she snagged a log. But, it started up and she began yelling for help.

Billy was manning the motor and their daughter was sitting in the middle of the boat. So the Mrs. just had to land the fish. After a 10-minute play she boated a big old gasper. It weighed 14 pounds after it was gutted! Some catch.

He Tells How

Recently a friend of mine spent a half-day fishing with Dave Hawk, maker of the famous Pico perch. Hawk has just published a book about bass fishing. The guy has some very definite ideas on the subject. Some of them you are inclined to argue about. However, when a man is good you've got to admit he may also be right.

Hawk takes very positive positions about certain things. For instance, he says that using a beaded chain snap swivel on a lure is like tying a log chain to it. Also he likes to fish with a black line. He thinks it is about the only thing that will catch a fish. As to rods, Hawk announces just as strongly against a rod longer than five feet. He says they are like buggy whips.

All this reminds us of the story about the mule trainer who was called in to "move" a balky mule. First thing he did was to pick up a 2x4 and give the mule a powerful whack on the head. He said the first thing you had to do was to get the mule's attention. He did. And it moved.

Well, after Hawk gets you a little riled up and you are paying full attention to what he says he gives some sound advice for catching bass.

For instance what he says about using a leader from 15 to 20 feet long makes a lot of sense. By uing the long leader, when you get a fighting fish close to the boat the connection between the line and leader already has been wound on the reel. If anything breaks it's the leader, not the knot. And that is less likely to happen.

Book of Mammals

Anyone interested in wildlife will appreciate the Palmer's Fieldbook of Mammals, just released by E. P. Dutton. This book has illustrations of more than 300 mammals of the world, both wild and domestic.

The author is Dr. E. Laurence Palmer, professor emeritus of Nature, Science and Conservation Education of Cornell University.

This is a concise, popularly priced, pocket size field book of the mammals of America. It has been arranged for practical use on field trips. It contains diagrams of tracks, teeth, skulls and other aids to identification. It is an especially valuable book for Boy and Girl Scouts, and teachers who take classes afield. Dr. Palmer has been a member of the Boy Scout national council for 36 years.

It's Tarpon Time

Look to the salt water now for some of the big fish stories of the year. The migration of bill fish is under way. Tarpon and sail fish will be caught almost daily along the Texas coast. They have moved up from the warm waters of Mexico.

This year it looks like they will be plentiful. Last year at the Tampico rodeo only a dozen tarpon were landed. This year 200 were brought in. A good indication that there'll be a big crop reaching Texas shores.

Better make arrangements to enter one of the coastal rodeos this summer. If you don't get a tarpon or sail fish you'll get enough king mackerel to fill the ice chest.

Legal Limits

There is a mild argument going on along the Texas coast about creel limits on salt water fish. Some people, mostly business men, are afraid fishermen may deplete the supply.

On the other hand biologists say that normal fishing never will clean out the fish supply of either the bays or the Gulf. They say pollution can, however. Unscrupulous netters also can play havoc with the fish population.

Night fishing also has come in for considerable discussion. There seems to be no complaint about the man who takes a Coleman lantern into the water and catches a nice mess of trout. However, there is criticism of the man who takes a portable light plant down the lagoon, fills a couple of boats with trout and then peddles them.

Anyway the matter now is under study by the Valley Sportsmen's Club and in time perhaps some recommendation will be made.

Novel Lure

Ever talk to a fisherman who couldn't tell you something you'd never heard before?

We have yet to find a fisherman anywhere who couldn't tell us about some new product or some old trick we'd never heard about.

Up here on Lake Travis a few diversionists are having fun with an Alkaseltzer lure. Ever hear of it? Neither did we. That is, until an oldtimer told this tale.

Well, here's how it works.

You take an old spring-type clothes pin. One of the long, flat kind that looks like a miniature pair of pliers. Only it's made of wood, and a spring provides the grip.

Well, these guys attach a swivel to the short end of the clothes pin, top side. Then they screw triple hooks onto the other end and tie on a bucktail to hide the hooks.

Usually they paint the clothes pins to serve their own tastes — and the fishes' of course — yellow, black, spotted, etc.

When it is time to fish they hook their line into the swivel located in the nose of the clothes pin. Then they are ready to cast.

BUT, just before they "heave to" they squeeze the tail of the clothes pin, open the jaw, and insert into the mouth of the clothes pin an Alkaseltzer tablet. Yes sir — an Alkaseltzer tablet.

Well — when that contraption hits the water there's the darndest spray of bubbles around that lure that you ever saw.

And the fishermen tell me the fizz attracts the fish, the fish strike — and lo and behold, you have a catch.

Makes a good story anyway — doesn't it?

You might give it a try, and see if it's a true story. Could be.

"I bought my first ELECTRIC RANGE in 1928—out of a mail order catalogue!"
says Mrs. E. B. McMahan
BOISE CITY, OKLAHOMA

★ Mrs. McMahan insisted on clean cooking 30 years ago when electric ranges were something of a novelty. Her first electric range was only 27 inches wide, "But," says Mrs. McMahan, "It was clean — and that's what I wanted most."

Today Mrs. McMahan has a modern double-oven electric range with automatic control on both ovens. She has push-buttons, too, and bakes pies, 5 at a time, to put in her electric home freezer. This grand lady, who has kept pace with the advances in electric cooking, says of her electric range, "Nothing goes wrong and the porcelain finish is so easy to keep clean." In addition to her range, Mrs. McMahan has every modern convenience in her kitchen and laundry — all completely electric.

FREE Thanks to your Reddy Kilowatt dealer you don't have to buy an electric range from a catalog. See him, have an electric range demonstration and get a certificate good for two bug lamps, free. Yellow bug lamps, which fit ordinary sockets, eliminate most of the light that insects see, yet provide a soft, comfortable light for outdoor living.

The Mail Brings the Shower Cards, But Not if the Postage is Wrong

Everybody knows that April showers bring May flowers, and everybody knows that May showers bring June brides. But not everybody knows that invitations and announcements bring consternation to the postal service.

This is not because the postal service dislikes weddings or showers, or receptions, or any of the other functions which have to do with getting married. As a matter of fact, postal workers are anxious to contribute whatever they can to the success of those occasions.

But sometimes those most interested in getting people happily started in married life make it very difficult for the postal service.

Take shower invitations for instance. When the date, the hour, the place the shower is to be held, the name of the prospective bride, or any other pertinent information is shown in handwriting or typewriting, the first-class rate of postage must be applied, regardless of whether the invitations are in sealed or unsealed envelopes.

If shower invitations are wholly printed, mimeographed, duplicated or otherwise reproduced by machine process, they may be mailed in unsealed envelopes at the third-class rate of two cents each.

Printed announcements which are of odd size or shape, or which are exceptionally large or unusually small, must bear the minimum first-class rate of postage regardless of whether they are done by machine or hand.

The postal service is anxious to carry the glad tidings of marriage and its many associated functions to all who are concerned, wherever they may be. If you have any questions about how to make up this mail, please help the postal service by calling OL 5-2507, according to Postmaster Marion Higdon.

Things that are good for us aren't always the ones we most enjoy.

Occasionally we get the double-edged reward of being constructive and at the same time getting personal satisfaction. A good night's sleep, for instance, often takes real stamina to plan, what with late TV shows, coffee, good books and hobbies. But once we've made up our mind to try one we both enjoy it and improve our health.

Yard work or housecleaning also gives a bonus. For while we're prettying up the place, we're also slenderizing the waistline.

But all too often, the virtues in a situation are so subtle they're hard to discover. At the moment, we're thinking of a traffic fine. The first inclination, when we're given a ticket, is to justify: "Guess I was driving a little fast, but it was an emergency." "Everybody exceeds the speed limit; why pick on me?"

Then comes actual pain at parting with the cash: "With that $15 I could buy six rosebushes." "What a hat I could get for that money."

"Talk about throwing money down a rat hole!"

It takes quite a while to remember that a well-placed traffic ticket now and then is deserved by the best of men. Everyone gets by with speeding a dozen times for one of getting caught. And even the most careful driver sometimes endangers a life. The fellow who is hardest on the unlucky motorist who doesn't see a child crossing a street in time pats himself on the back for his own near-misses. He is simply taking a "Sporting chance."

Although our pocketbook still aches from a recent extraction, there's no doubt about it. We are more careful!
